Rod Auberg and His Orchestra To Be Featured at UMD Prom

"Aloha Malihini, Wiki Wiki Kamesin Hele Ke Hula Nani Nei" (Welcome, newcomers, Hurry, Hurry, one and all, come to the prom for a wonderful time.) With this invitation on, the 1959 prom will get under way tomorrow evening at the Physical Education Building.

As each couple arrives at the dance, you will be greeted by a Hawaiian attired doorman. Next, beautiful coeds will present each girl with a corsage flown in from the islands for the occasion. A few steps more and you will enter a Hawaiian paradise.

Featured for your dancing pleasure will be Rod Aaberg, who played at the prom two years ago and at the 1959 Sno-ball, and has always been a favorite at UMD.

Much of the mood of the evening will be created by the extensive decorations which will include a smoking volcano, swinging palms, fish nets and a pinch of polynesian music.

According to Glenn Simmonds, Kirby Student Center president and prom chairman, this year's dance, which will last from 9-1, will be one of the best held at UMD in many years.

Assisting Simmonds with arrangements are Gary Holzer and Jack Eckholm, ticket co-chairmen; Gail Holzer, decorations; and Ken Maeckelbergh, publicity. The cost of the prom has been set at a new low of $2.75 which includes the corsage each girl will receive. Also included are formal invitations which will serve as a remembrance of an exciting and long-to-be-remembered evening (and morning).

SENIORS CELEBRATE

UMD seniors will hold their annual class picnic at Pattison Park, Wisconsin, on Wednesday, May 27.

Students interested in attending the picnic can purchase their tickets at the Kirby Desk. Tickets must be purchased before 4:00 p.m. Monday and no one will be admitted to the picnic without a ticket. Cost of the tickets is 25 cents for seniors and $1 for guest.

The picnic menu includes steak, corn on the cob, potato salad, rolls, beverage, and dessert.

Senior class officers are John Seely, president; Don Hempel, vice president, and Maurine McGirl, secretary.

UMD's Student Association assembly will hold its first session on the evening of June 2, according to Tom Kraus, new association president.

Scheduled to attend the opening session are the following — all newly elected representatives at large, the present officers of the Freshmen, Sophomore classes and representatives of the Interfraternity, Pan-Hellenic, Religious and Dormitory councils.

Principal business of the session will be discussed including the summer budget and commission appointments.

The assembly will meet in Kirby Student Center; the time and room have not been determined as yet.

Kraus emphasized that his meeting is open to the entire student body and urged a large attendance.

ROTC Parade and Review To Be Held

The annual ROTC parade and review will be held May 26, 3:30 p.m. on the field adjacent to the ROTC Building. Also, Major William P. Vanden Dries, UMD Professor of Air Science, announced that 15 ROTC cadets have been named to receive the academic achievement award.

The basis for the awards is outstanding quality of military and academic leadership and social activities.

One award will be given by each commissioned officer, and all the non-commissioned officers will give one award between them to a cadet who they feel has achieved the most in the past year. Three drill awards will be given for element, flight and squadron. Other awards that will be awarded by the group itself are awards for marksmanship and an award for flight training aptitude.

Awards presented by groups outside ROTC are the two American Legion Awards, one given by the David Wisted Post and one by the Zenith City Post, the Chamber of Commerce Aviation Medal of Merit and the Convair Cadet Award.

Fifteen Air Force ROTC cadets have been named to receive the Academic Achievement awards.

The award signifies a "B" average for a quarter of study. Subsequent honor roll achievement is recognized by bronze or silver stars attached to the ribbon.

The cadets are:

Second award—Lance W. Berglund, Frank T. Lewis, William N. Ames, Donald L. Shovein, Carl J. Jeanetta, all of Duluth; James T. Cloutire, Cloquet; Leonard H. Stone, Virginia; Richard L. Swensen, Sandstone.

First award—Robert T. Bennett, James W. Lavin, Douglas R. Brant, Richard C. Gudesen, Robert Leone and Jon D. Nylander, all of Duluth; Wayne A. Gutzman, Ironton.

Choral Concert Given Tuesday

The final UMD chorus and chamber choir concert will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday, May 26, at Kirby Student Center ballroom. The concert is under the direction of Malcolm Westly, student at UMD.

The program will feature the full University seventy-five voice chorus singing works ranging from sixteenth century Lassus to twentieth century Carlos Chavez. The chamber choir, a smaller group of voices specializing in intimate sacred works, will also present a selection of songs.

The selections sung by the full chorus include three "fuguing tunes" by William Billings, a popular American composer of the days of George Washington. These tunes include both sedate and frolicsome themes in canonic treatment. The chorus will also perform two Negro spirituals and three sacred works by the contemporary, Randall Thompson.

The chamber choir will present a Buxtehude "Cantata" for choir, organ, and string trio. Another selection sung by the chamber choir is Benjamin Britten's "Rejoice in the Land."

The concert will also include four soloists who are Cynthia Owens, Wendell Kindberg, Donald Berginan, and Alice Craig.

The program will be: "Matona, Lovely Maiden" by Lassus; "I Leave Thee, Love, With Grieving" by Hassler; "Tree of Sorrow" by Chavez; "Echo Song" by Lassus; "Three Fuguing Tunes" by Billings; "Command Thine Angel" (Cantata) by Buxtehude; "Rejoice in the Lamb" (Cantata) by Britten; "Alleluia," "The Paper Reeds by the Brooks" and "Say Ye to the Righteous" by Thompson; and "Two Spirituals" arranged by Dawson.

The following paid positions are open on the UMD Statesman for the school year 1959-1960: photographer, managing editor, news editor and copy editor. Anyone interested is asked to call the Statesman office Monday or Tuesday evening or contact Mike Berman.

Eulogy and Inauguration

Six years ago a new form of government came into being on this campus, the Student Commission. It was composed of a thirteen-member group which served in the dual capacity of legislators and administrators. This commission was organized to replace the student council form of government which previously existed.

Now the Student Commission has been replaced by the UMD-SA, a form of government which includes separate executive, administrative and legislative branches.

Why has the UMD-SA replaced the Student Commission?

It would seem logical that the Student Commission had failed as a governing group. But an analysis of the endeavors of that organization shows that this is not true. The Student Commission has effectively governed the student body on this campus. Each year more and more success has been realized in events which they sponsor. Student funds have been handled with discretion and attempts made to use them in ways which will best help the most students either directly or indirectly. Its commissioners have worked tirelessly to satisfy the wants of the student body and its executives have done an outstanding job of representing our University on the various levels of the student and general communities.

Why then has the Student Commission been replaced?

Unfortunately the Student commission was not representative of the student body. Since the executives and commissioners were all elected by the student body as a whole it was nearly impossible for any one commissioner to represent a segment of the campus in any discussion. A commissioner could never say that a particular group of students felt a certain way. They were forced to speak for the entire student body and thus spent most of the time representing their own opinions because it is impossible for each person to know the feelings of the entire campus.

What are the additional advantages of the new association?

First, the structure of the new SA is more flexible than the commission government. Under the old form structure there was no provision for growth of the student body. The new Student Association constitution provides for growth through provisions for additional representation as the student body and its organizations grow.

Secondly, the new student association calls for a separation of powers which did not exist under the commission form of government.

The Student Commission is dead. Through the important years of transformation as UMD has grown the Commission form of government has served its purpose. But as the old campus has given way to the new so must the old form of government give way to the new.

The dissolution of the student commission heralds the end of a period in the growth of this campus. Now we must look to the future and the UMD-SA.

Delinquency A Growing Problem

YOUTHS, 15 AND 16, CHARGED WITH ASSAULT.

TEENAGE BURGLAR STRIKES FOR THIRD TIME IN TWO WEEKS.

GIRL, 13, RUNS AWAY FROM HOME.

YOUTH KILLS FATHER AND SERIOUSLY WOUNDS MOTHER IN FIGHT OVER FAMILY CAR.

These and scores more like them are typical headlines from Minnesota's daily and weekly newspapers. They tell part of the story of juvenile delinquency.

Unfortunately, it is an expanding story—one which concerns every town, city and county in Minnesota, regardless of size.

Juvenile delinquency is one of the state's and nation's most pressing problems and one which needs immediate attention.

The Minnesota Juvenile Police Officers Association, Inc., a non-profit organization of police juvenile specialists dedicated to the control and cure of juvenile crime, is now ready, after four years of research, study and experience, to move into action with a comprehensive and coordinated campaign against the growing menace of juvenile delinquency.

All activities connected with the campaign are directed by the Juvenile Crime Prevention Caravan Committee, a group of carefully selected, qualified juvenile police officers guided by an Advisory Board of authorities on youth betterment programs.

Captain Clifford Bailey, director of the Minneapolis Police Department Crime Prevention Bureau, is executive director of the project.

Governor Orville L. Freeman is a member of the advisory board.

Uppermost need at the moment is money to get the program in action. The money will be used to buy and equip a Crime Prevention Laboratory on Wheels, a special bus, which will tour every community in Minnesota.

The traveling Laboratory will contain educational displays and material and motion picture equipment and will be manned by trained personnel. The staff will be concerned with a plan of action for the local community and will work in close harmony with the local chief of police. After the buses' visit, staff members will stay in contact with the local committee and offer all possible aid.

Contributions for this vital program of education are tax deductible and can be sent to Minnesota Juvenile Officers Association, Room 33, City Hall, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

4. by offering any ideas or suggestions which may be helpful to the new officers; 5. by attending future activities sponsored by the government and other campus clubs and organizations.

The student government can last only with the support of the whole student body. Half support means half government and half government is inefficient. Don't let this happen to the new student government, UMD-SA.

I Challenge the 1959-1960 UMD Class Officers

To serve a useful purpose. Aside from the KUMD tag drive which the Freshman class sponsored, the Senior class picnic and the annual Sophomore class dance, the classes at UMD do very little as a unit. It is your responsibility as class officers to stimulate your particular group into taking action as a unit.

If the classes are not going to do anything as a unit then there is little need for each class to have an executive structure.

The UMD Statesman

To the Student Body:

Since the election, many of the students at UMD have forgotten those they voted for in the new government. I would like to warn these students that it's too early to forget our representatives and our government. It is our duty to support this government.

There are five ways in which the students of this university can support their representatives: 1. by attending the UMD-SA meeting June 2, at which the student government will draw up the summer budget which incidentally comes from student funds; 2. by supporting the activities that will be sponsored by the new student government; 3. by participating voluntarily in activities without being badgered into it by the representatives;

Author-Naturalist to Address Journalism Banquet May 28

Sigurd F. Olson, noted author-naturalist, will speak at a banquet honoring outstanding contributions to campus journalism. The banquet is being sponsored by Pi Delta Epsilon and will be held May 28, 6:00 p.m. in the Kirby Student Center.

Olson, nationally acclaimed author of "The Singing Wilderness" and "Listening Point," will speak on the title, "A Book Is Born."

Joyce Rogers, Duluth, president of the sponsoring chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, oldest honorary undergraduate journalism fraternity in the nation, is chairman of arrangements. New initiatives will be introduced.

A selection committee will choose outstanding examples of writing, layout and other special editorial responsibilities produced by UMD students.

Olson's talk at approximately 8 p.m. will be open to the public. Area teachers, writers and others interested are especially invited.

Reservations for the dinner itself may be made by calling RA 4-8801, Ext. 210.

Olson has been described as "one who knows with rare intimacy the mysteries of the lakes, rivers and forests of the Quetico-Superior area and the country stretching beyond to the Arctic."

A native Chicagoan who has lived in the wilderness region most of his life, Olson formerly taught biology and was dean at Ely Junior College. He is president of the National Parks Association, a post to which he was first named in 1953, as ecologist for the Izaak Walton League of America and consultant to President Eisenhower's Quetico-Superior committee. In 1945-46 he was on special assignment with the U. S. Army and State Department in Europe.

He has just received a citation from the Izaak Walton League for outstanding services in bringing to public attention through the spoken and written word, the values of recreation and conservation in America's park and wilderness areas.

Acclaimed for his sensitive and richly written accounts of life and lore of the wilderness country, he is completing a third book, "The Lonely Land," based upon one of his many Canadian expeditions.

WRA Banquet Held Tuesday

The annual Women's Recreation Association (WRA) banquet will be held at 6 p.m. Tuesday, May 19, at the Lincoln Hotel. The theme of the banquet is "Recreation and You."

Frank Hansen, UMD instructor of psychology, will be guest speaker. He will speak on "What Recreation Has to Offer You."

Entertainment will feature Joan Engard, Duluth, singing selections from "The King and I."

Three participation awards will be given, "Minnie the Gopher," the "M letter," and the WRA Honor Pin.

The newly elected officers are in charge of the banquet. The new WRA officers are Kathy Burns, Duluth, president; Sue Nelson, Duluth, vice president; Beatrice Lee, Honolulu, Hawaii, secretary, and Margaret Peterson, Clover Valley, treasurer. Appointed officers are Maija Klinsons, Duluth, point recorder, and Frances Stepetz, Aurora, publicity.

Miss Burns will be toastmaster. The program chairman is Miss Nelson. Miss Lee is in charge of decorations, and Miss Peterson, finance.

The banquet is honoring the retiring officers, Faye Skarman, president; Phyllis Peterson, vice president; Donna Honnold, secretary; Sandra Knutson, treasurer; Violet Colich, point recorder; and Sue Nelson, publicity chairman.

Students who are now enrolled and who have UMD Student Hospital Plan are covered only through June 15, 1959.

The Business Office announces that those who wish to continue their Student Hospital Plan through the summer months (June 15-Sept. 15) even though they do not attend either summer session, may do so by paying their fees at the Business Office between 9:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m., May 25-29, 1959.

The rate for summer months for single coverage is $6 and for family coverage $18. Students not paying on the above dates may have coverage only by being billed directly from the St. Paul Blue Cross office at the following rates:

Single contract — $3.65 per month.

Family contract — $8.90 per month.

Dorms Open To Public May 24th

New UMD residence halls accommodating 118 persons and the original 64-resident facility will be open for public inspection Sunday, May 24.

Mrs. Grace Evans, head residence hall counselor, said today open house will be observed from 2 to 5 p.m.

Resident students will serve as hosts and guides. Refreshments will be served.

Another feature on the UMD campus on the open house Sunday will be the final day of the exhibition by 11 University of Minnesota artists in Tweed gallery.

Gallery hours are 1 to 5 p.m. daily.

Built at a cost of $525,000 the new units have been assigned to women's use. Until this year, women have occupied the original resident halls. Men will be living on the new campus for the first time as they take over the original units opened in 1956 in conjunction with the Kirby Student center.

Constructed with gifts from several Duluth firms and families, the original units were built at a cost of $303,706. Each unit accommodates eight residents.

The new units are designed for 12 residents each. Modifications for counselors' quarters reduce the actual occupancy to 118.

Financing included a $345,000 federal housing loan and a $126,000 Minnesota legislative appropriation in 1957.

The UMD residence halls have won considerable attention throughout the nation for their unique design. Connected by a single corridor at the back, the units have a gear-toothed appearance from an elevated distance.

University architects point out that the design encourages the formation of group relationships. Lounge areas between units, snack facilities, laundry areas and other appointments are special features.

A practical factor in their design is that expansion can be made as needed. Traditional residence facilities are single, large structures requiring considerable initial outlay.

Marine Officer Selection Team to Visit Campus

Marine Captain Arnold E. Bench announced this week that the Marine Corps Officer selection team would visit this campus on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 26 and 27, 1959. Captain Bench states that the selection team would present two programs for college students leading to commissions as Marine Ground Officers and two programs which offer a Marine commission and assignment to flight training.

The platoon leaders class and the platoon leaders class aviation are summer training programs and are open to freshmen and sophomores. They assure a college man that he will complete his college education prior to meeting his military obligation. Participation in two six-week summer training programs without interference in academic pursuits during the school year will lead to a second lieutenant's commission upon graduation.

The officer candidate course and aviation officer candidate course programs for seniors and recent graduates require ten weeks of indoctrination prior to commissioning.

The officer selection team which will be located in the Kirby Student center, will accept applications for any of the above mentioned programs from qualified students. Also, students are invited to discuss their military obligations under the Armed Forces Reserve Act of 1955 with members of the selection team without obligation.

UMD Outing Club to Sponsor Canoe Trip

Three students drown as a canoe tips over on Sawbill Lake. Would you like your name in this headline? Well, o.k., if you still want to live, how about going along and getting an on-the-spot view of the activities? I won't guarantee that a headline like the first sentence will appear (for the sake of future trips, it better not), but FUN and RELAXATION are the key words.

Have you signed up yet? "For what and where?" you ask. Here are the facts, just the facts.

What: Canoe trip, sponsored by the Outing Club of UMD.

Where: Sawbill Lodge is the taking-off place.

When: Leave from Kirby Student Center at 5:30 p.m. on Friday afternoon, May 29.

How long: Three days, Memorial day week-end.

How much: A reduction has been made. The cost is only $12. It was $13.50 in the last issue of the Statesman.

What you need to bring: Yourself, clothes (don't pack them all in your duffle bag). Fishing poles, Friday sack supper if desired, etc.

Cost includes: Canoe, tents, sleeping bag, air mattress, food, life preserver, everything else but you and your clothes.

How do I get included: Sign up at the Kirby Desk before 10:00 Tuesday, May 26.

Miscellaneous information: To have a fairly accurate idea of how many are going it is necessary to require a $4 deposit when you sign up. The balance may be paid the day of the trip.

Three people drown in Sawbill. Are you included in the excitement?

Kirby Holds Hootnanny

Kirby Program Committee will sponsor a "Hootnanny," Tuesday, May 26, 1:30-2:30 in Kirby Student Center Cafeteria. A "Hootnanny" consists of an informal hour of folk music featuring vocal and guitar music.

This is the second folk music program sponsored by the Kirby Program committee and the last of the series of informal musical programs sponsored by the committee this year.

Outstanding talent from UMD will again be featured. Among this talent will be Jerry Music, well known on campus for his musical ability and wit.

The Kirby program committee invites everyone to attend the "Hootnanny" to relax before beginning to study for finals.

Phi Alpha Theta Elects Officers

Phi Alpha Theta, honorary history fraternity, held its annual election of officers at a meeting on May 13. The new officers are Lyle Northey, president; Gerald Moe, vice president; Sue Mehling, secretary; Al Falconer, treasurer; and Carol Toivari, historian.

Following the meeting, Dr. Maclear showed slides of France and Austria.

Name Changed

The United Youth Fellowship, Presbyterian and Congregational organization on campus, announced a name change. They will now be known as the United Campus Christian Fellowship.

The purpose of the change is to denote that this group is a Christian organization, and also that they might be affiliated with the National United Campus Christian Fellowship.

Dr. Staples, Professor of Education, To Retire from UMD Teaching Staff

Red Cross To Sponsor 10 Day Training Program

By G. KANGAS

When Flora M. Staple, professor of education, shuts the door of room 102 Old Main this spring, she will end over three decades of teaching.

For Dr. Staple, retiring in June after 12 years at UMD and another 14 years at the Laboratory School, this is a time of sadness for what she is leaving and also a time of reflection as her career in Duluth is a link between past and present. When Dr. Staple came to the campus of what was then Duluth State Teachers College, it was thought to be astounding to have a student enrollment of 700.

DR. FLORA M. STAPLE

During her 26 years in Duluth Dr. Staple has served as teacher, supervisor at the Laboratory School, director of group leadership for teachers and professor of education. She has worked in the Laboratory School when it was divided into three divisions, then eight grades until she accepted a position on the beginning UMD faculty.

Throughout, she helped over 800 teachers toward graduation and counseled thousands more.

Dr. Staple, born in Neligh, Neb., earned a B.S. at the University of Chicago; M.A. at the Columbia University; and Ed.D. at the University of Denver. After graduation from high school she took her first teaching position in a one-room schoolhouse in rural Nebraska, moving to Wayne University a year later where she did her first two years of undergraduate work and taught at the Laboratory School before moving to the University of Chicago. After completion of her M.A. at Columbia she accepted a position as supervisor and teacher at the Laboratory School of the then Duluth State Teachers College.

In her book-lined office in Old Main Dr. Staple reminisced about the hectic days when the Duluth State Teachers College was changed to the University of Minnesota, Duluth. This change took place after World War II with the tremendous influx of G.I.'s starting college. "We had education classes of 75," said Dr. Staple, "and few teachers." There were fewer education classes," she continued, "but more hours."

When questioned about the future, Dr. Staple said, "I'd like to travel, as I've never had the time and freedom before." She went on to say that she will continue to make Duluth her home and possibly after some travel she may return and write. Dr. Staple has published several social studies units or plays and would like to do more in that line.

Dr. Staple has always been interested in education and as she put it, "I can't remember when I didn't want to teach." Despite her retirement, she plans to keep in contact with her pupils to see what they are doing and what influence they will have on future generations. "The future of education," she said, "is, after all, in the people who go to college, not the physical plant and buildings we leave behind."

Experienced and prospective camp counselors, lifeguards, and instructors will be congregating at lakeside camps in nine Mid-west locations for 10 days of advanced training in their fields this summer in a program being conducted by the American National Red Cross. These Red Cross National Aquatic and Small Craft Schools will be held during May, June, and August.

To attend these small craft courses, applicants must hold senior lifesaving certificates or the equivalent. Applicants for all schools must be 18 years of age or older. Costs are all included in a $50 enrollment fee, except transportation to school sites.

During the courses, young men and women wishing to advance their training to serve as volunteer Red Cross instructors in their home communities, as camp counselors, swimming instructors, or waterfront directors at beaches and pools will receive instruction from water safety and first aid experts from various parts of the country.

Swimming, lifesaving, first aid, canoeing, boating, sailing, leadership training in community organization, camp, waterfront and swimming pool organization are all included in the curriculum. Places and dates of the training courses in this area are: Owasippi Scout Camps, Whitehall, Mich., June 14-24; Indian Mound Reservation, Oconomowoc, Wis., June 14-24; and Camp Chippecotton, Elkhorn, Wis., Aug. 16-26. In addition, because of the general interest, elective courses in canoeing instruction training for currently authorized water safety instructors are being offered at Elkhorn, Wis., and Whitehall, Mich.

Those wishing to enroll may do so until 10 days prior to the date of the course, but applications should be in early because only a limited number of students can be accepted for each school. Information is available from local Red Cross chapters across the country and may be secured by writing to the Mid-western Area Office, American National Red Cross, 4050 Lindell Blvd., St. Louis 8, Mo.

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES!

Congratulations graduate! The big day is almost here when you close those books and start to use all the knowledge and skill you've been "collecting" these past few years.

Naturally you're eager to find a promising beginning in your chosen field. Perhaps you've already been interviewed by employment recruiters sent to your school by large industries. You've no doubt applied to some of the major companies in your area. But, have you investigated the excellent career possibilities being offered by the hundreds of medium and small size concerns? To personally make the rounds of these smaller but equally progressive businesses would be a very costly endeavor in both your time and money.

There is, however, an efficient and selective method of checking openings in these firms... through the services of a nationally recognized employment service. Here at Walker we have a selection of job listings from all fields... sales, technical, advertising, merchandising and administrative. Our listings include promising positions for women as well as men. It costs you nothing to investigate these opportunities... there is no charge unless we place you. We would like to assist you in locating your employment opportunities! Why not write or drop in and see us.

CONFERENCES

Robert L. Heller, UMD associate professor and head of geology, participated in two national conferences last week in Washington. He was one of two geology representatives at a National Science Foundation advisory conference on coordinating of curriculum studies May 18-19.

The Duluthian is director of the UMD conference and chairman of the AGI steering committee responsible for selection of the conferees and conference planning.

Physics, mathematics, biology, chemistry, geology, anthropology and meteorology are other fields which were represented.

Thirty educators and scientists will gather at Duluth to catalog available materials and design new materials and approaches to remedy what the American Geological Institute considers a serious lag in geology teaching at elementary and secondary levels.

On Wednesday, Professor Heller represented the AGI at a meeting of the steering and advisory committee for the National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards.

The committee completed plans for a national TEPS conference June 23-26 at Lawrence, Kans., suggested approaches for a follow-up study on the Lawrence meeting and suggested preliminary plans for the 1960 TEPS conference.

"BORIS GODUNOV" TO BE SHOWN

"Boris Godunov," Moussorgsky's greatest opera, will be shown in color in the current UMD art film series at 8 p.m., Wednesday, May 27, in the Science Auditorium. The Russian production, directed and produced by Vera Stroyeva and based on a scenario written by Miss Stroyeva and N. Golovanov, has been called a "rich musical masterpiece," as well as an example in the use of color and spectacular mass scenes.

Underlining Moussorgsky's realism and historical fidelity, the widely admired film provides a glimpse into medieval Russia. Alexander Pirogov as Boris, Khanayev as Shuisky and Nelepp, Dmitri, the Imposter accentuate the theme.

Students Speak on Educational TV

John Fochtman, pre-dentistry Biology major and laboratory instructor, and Lauren Sandquist, Business and Speech major and KUMD station manager, both UMD seniors, will speak to the Coke and Gas Workers at Veterans Hall, 402 Central Avenue, at 7 p.m. Tuesday (May 19), on the subject of educational television. Both are members of the Speakers Bureau of the Duluth-Superior Area Educational Television Corporation.

Fochtman is from Grand Rapids, Sandquist from Duluth.

Fochtman will describe the success and growing impact of educational television nationally; Sandquist will describe local plans and prospects.

ECONOMICS CONFERENCE HELD

Monetary authorities must figuratively "walk a tight rope in a high wind" as they evaluate present conditions and make policies to assure maximum benefit for the general public.

Franklin L. Parsons, Minneapolis, director of research, Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, however, told a UMD business and economics conference audience today in Kirby Student Center: "It can be done."

Duluth Lions Club members joined visitors, students and faculty in the opening public event of the three-day conference sponsored by the UMD Business and Accounting clubs and the UMD business and economics department.

Richard O. Sielaff, chairman, UMD division of social sciences, presided. Allen O. Felix, New York, director of education, New York Stock Exchange, will address a conference session Wednesday noon attended by Duluth Kiwanians.

Sports in Short

— By SCHMIDT —

Today the MIAC conference meet in tennis, golf, and track gets into full swing with each squad from UMD in strong contention for the conference title. This will be the deciding test for each individual athlete as well as the team, and I believe we will have more than our share of men ranked on top of the list after all is said and done. In any event, our greatest wishes of good luck go out to every UMD player, and we hope that we can win at least one conference title. UMD already holds two MIAC crowns and all good things come in three, they say.

The winter season is long gone and with it went the sport page headlines of basketball and hockey; however, few people realize that the coaches of these sports work around the seasons. Right now "Connie" Pleban, coach of the UMD pucksters, is diligently ironing out a schedule for next year. Coach Pleban is awaiting approval by the MIAC concerning the two hockey games arranged with the Main Branch next winter. A game with the United States Olympic team is already assured, and the mentor of the championship Bulldogs is attempting to schedule a series with some Eastern team, possibly in New York.

Don Romano, our friend and hockey enthusiast, also stated that we might see far fewer conference games on next year's schedule for Pleban is hoping the other MIAC teams will approve a system which will give the conference team an option if they want to play UMD or not and then determine the conference champs through a final round robin tournament.

Speaking of Murray Warmath, I see that the "M" club is still not successful in replacing Murray with another coach—even by bringing the matter before the University Regents who sloughed off the issue by recommending that Warmath and Ike Armstrong, the athletic director, also with many enemies, "improve public relations." Many wonder why these two athletic figures continue, knowing they have no public support. There are two possible answers; ignorant persistence or immeasurable courage.

Freshman Ed Lundstrom grimaces as he does the high jump. Ed did not place in the high jump which ended up in a four-way tie for first but won the broad jump.

which he works, a UMD business Stock Exchange, informed a convocation audience in Kirby Student Center ballroom that public education has helped create thousands of new shareowners.

"Over the last decade America has gone through a greatly intensified but quiet economic revolution," he declared.

"The base of shareownership has broadened decisively and now includes millions of people in the middle-income ranges.

"They appreciate the risks they have taken. They also appreciate that the rewards and responsibilities of the American economy are being shared by more and more people."

A factor stimulating the current educational drive to acquaint more persons with shareownership, Felix said, was "research pointing out that three out of four adults are unable to explain what common stock means."

"It became obviously necessary to tell the shareownership story in its basic form—and in as many ways as possible."

The New York exchange has developed guideposts for the investing public, he declared.

"The investor is always urged to get the facts, seek advice, deal with a reputable broker, and keep a cash reserve handy for the unpredictable emergency.

"No one should be fool enough to think he can predict the future with absolute certainty."

Bulldog Tracksters Down Yellowjackets; Tally Fifth Win

By TONY FISKETT

Tuesday, the Bulldogs held their second triangular meet at UMD with Northland and Superior State and repeated their past performance as they ran away with the honors. Exciting races were viewed in the 100-yard dash and the mile run. The former ended in a dead heat tie between John Ahlin and Tim Burgess with a 10.3 time. Despite the fact that it appeared that Ahlin had won by a hair, the judges ruled it a dead heat. The latter was highlighted by the brilliant finish by UMD's Ted Eckman who overcame Norm Gill in the last 10 yards to win the event with a time of 4:36.8. Freshman Ed Lundstrom continued his success in the broad jump as he won with a leap of 20 feet, 4 inches.

The high jump had unusual results as four men finished in a tie for first place. Bob Lindahl, Jim Waldo, and Ahlgren on UMD and Geralimo of Superior State all ended with jumps of 5 ft., 8 inches.

100-yd. dash: Ahlin and Burgess (UMD), Hamblin (S), Wadzinski (S), 10.3.

220-yd. dash: Burgess (UMD), Ahlin (UMD), Wadzinski (S), Martin (D), 22.9.

440-yd. run: Martin (D), Hay (D), Jarvis (UMD), 52.9.

880-yd. run: Lindahl (UMD), Gran (UMD), Laulunen (UMD), Vaughn (N), 2:04.4.

One-mile run: Eckman (UMD), Gill (UMD), Maki (N), 4:36.8.

Two-mile run: Mickolojak (UMD), Gill (UMD), Maki (N), Schoumaker (UMD), 10:07.5.

120-yd. high hurdles: Gonyea (UMD), Geralimo (S), Muscatello (UMD), Haigh (UMD), 16.9.

180-yd. low hurdles: Muscatello (UMD), Gonyea (UMD), Conway (S), 27.2.

High jump: 4-way tie for first (Lindahl, Waldo, Ahlgren (UMD), Geralimo (S), 5'8").

Broad jump: Lundstrom, Cline, Ahlin, Ahlgren (UMD), 20'4".

Pole vault: Lindahl (UMD), Whelihan (UMD), Anderson (S), 11 ft.

Discus: Johnson, Pease, Rosati (UMD), Mercier (N), 134'4".

Net, Golf, Track Teams Vie In Conference Meet Today

The three UMD spring sports teams will regroup their forces and invade the territory of the Hamline Pipers today as they each make a bid for the conference title. There will be some tough competition in store for the Bulldog squads, and if UMD does upset the odds to take a championship, it will not be an easy win.

The team out to make the biggest improvement over last year's standing will be the UMD tracksters. Coach Ralph Neuses will take one of the largest UMD track teams in recent years to the meet with only one season defeat. The Bulldogs were rudely denied first place when the Macalester Scots compiled 82½ points in a five-team meet at their own cinders. The 51½ points UMD totaled, however, was enough for second place.

Coach Neuses' tracksters won first place honors in the five other season meets. The first victory, which came as somewhat of a surprise to the experts, was tallied as UMD traveled to St. Thomas and won over St. John's, Augsburg, and the hosts. On May 1 the Bulldogs swamped Superior and Northland, and the following Monday defeated the Hamline Pipers. After the Macalester meet UMD was victorious over Concordia in a very unique meet and Tuesday they once again won over Superior and Northland. With this respectable season's record under his arm, Coach Neuses feels confident that he can make a big improvement over last year's lowly fifth place conference ranking.

Monday, Lew Rickert made the final decision on his tennis and golf team rosters. Both teams have two games under their belts as they go into the MIAC contest; both with the Superior State Yellowjackets and both very easy victories. In the last match the netmen blanked the State team 5-0, while the linksmen won easily 14-4.

Conference competition, of course, is expected to be much stiffer. The golf team hopes to equal if not better their second place in the conference standings, but to achieve this goal the Bulldog team will have to down Macalester, once again the MIAC powerhouse. The Scots will be defending their MIAC crown.

The five-man team that the linksmen mentor narrowed down from the season's regular roster are Dan McNicoll, the highly rated junior who is in his first year of intercollegiate competition; Dick Olsen, the low man for UMD in the last meet with Superior; Jerry Snyder, a sophomore from Duluth; and two football lettermen, Dale Stocke and Bill Bort. The meet will be a 36-hole team playoff.

The tennis team is out to improve their fourth place standings. The men selected to do it are Chauncey Riggs, freshman back to UMD after a hitch in the Air Force, as number one singles. Number two singles will be Al Halfaker, another talented freshman, and in the number three position, Paul Kent, a senior from Duluth.

Playing in the doubles match will be UMD team captain, Johnny Hatten, and Karl Honigman. This pair was the runners-up in last year's MIAC meet. St. Thomas, the defending champion, will be the team to beat if the Bulldog squad hopes to gain the conference title. St. Thomas produced last year's single champion in the person of Jerry Strong.

Crystalball Gazing

By G. E. SCHMIDT

It's always fun to procrastinate and every sports enthusiast is a procrastinator at heart. Today I would like to take a crack at predicting the results of a track meet.

This is not often done by sports writers, primarily because track is one of the most difficult sports to predict. So much depends upon only one individual and as you know the human body is an ever changing organism, physically as well as psychologically. It is often interesting to note that although the same individual may be trying his best in both contests, he will record two drastically different times. There are a number of other factors to consider besides the athlete's actual ability. Among these are psychological conditions. This is the hardest to predict, yet plays the most important role in determining how well an individual will perform.

Nevertheless, I will put aside all the rules and attempt to predict the results of the conference track meet which is presently in progress at Hamline college. I have picked the first and second place winner, and also the winning time. These are based on the statistics from the UMD meets this season.

Applications Open For International Workshop

The United States National Student Association has announced that applications are now being taken for an International Student Work Camp to be held in Sakhiat-Sidi-Youssef, Tunisia. The purpose of the workshop will be to rebuild a school house which was bombed by the French. The work camp will take place from July 25 through Sept. 1, 1959.

This work camp was organized last February when the eighth International Student Conference met in Peru with the North African Student Confederation. USNSA as a participant of the International Student Conference is eligible to recruit applicants.

Males with a knowledge of French and some construction background are urged to apply. A small number of women will also be accepted. All expenses (room, board, transportation) will be paid by USNSA and the sponsors of the work camp. For further information and application forms, write to the office of the International Commission of USNSA, 142 Mount Auburn Street, Cambridge 38, Mass. The deadline for receipt of applications by this office is June 1, 1959.

ELECTIONS TO BE HELD MAY 25-26

Elections will be held next Monday and Tuesday for Senior class vice president and Sophomore Class vice president. The reason these are held over is that during the regular election one name was omitted from the ballot of Senior Class offices. The Sophomore Class elected Dave Erickson as vice president. The problem here is that there are two Dave Erickson's in the Freshman Class.

On the Sophomore ballot, there will be a distinction between the two candidates. One of the Dave's has red hair and this will be noted on the ballot. Freshmen will vote for either Dave W. (Red) Erickson or David S. Erickson.

All Freshmen and Juniors are urged to vote. Voting will be from 9:00-3:00 on Monday and from 9:00-1:00 on Tuesday in both Old Main and Kirby.

Phi Delta Kappa Elects Officers

New officers of Gamma Omicron chapter, Phi Delta Kappa, national honorary fraternity for men in public education, have been announced by the international office at Bloomington, Ind.

They are Thomas J. Bukvich, Duluth, president; David Heritage, Hibbing, vice president; Paul Lampi, recording secretary; Lewis Ely, treasurer, and Victor Storberg, historian, all of Duluth.

Harry C. Johnson, UMD head of elementary education, is faculty sponsor. The officers were installed last Wednesday (May 20). Retiring president is Harris Miller, Duluth.

An organization of 80,000 school men and graduate students, Phi Delta Kappa has 76 field chapters in urban centers and 114 campus chapters in the U. S. and Canada.

It has commissions on school desegregation, international education, and selective recruitment of teachers. Its magazine, Phi Delta Kappan, is a nationally recognized medium of educational opinion.
